Madiba CEO Kiro'o

WHO IS IT?

Name: Madiba Olivier

Location: Cameroon

Career Path: Olivier is self taught game developer with background in Computer science

Age: 25 - 35 years

WHAT GOALS?

Kiro'o Studio aims at creating games that are inspired by Africa with an inspiring narration. The studio hopes to promote youth creative minds by offering them an opportunity to be a part of Kiro'o. Kiro'o is looking for talented artist youth.

WHAT ATTITUDE?

Due to technological barrier in the continent, the studio is always looking for self-driven youth to join them. My website will be a great tool as a marketing of my skills to such great company. It will have some of my projects and my current working location.

WHICH BEHAVIOUR?

Kiro'o Studio is the first game development in Central Africa. The Studio started as a start up idea by Madiba Olivier in 2002. The studio aim is to unify and distribute African culture by combining various myths, folktales and traditional African values into the gaming industry.

In an interview, Mr Madiba indicated the growing concern of youth unemployment in the continent. He hopes to give an opportunity to hardworking youth to be part of the Kiro'o mission. Madiba is also an experience programmer and believes that the best developer in the world are the ones which are always ready to share their work for constructive criticism.

Until now, Kiro'o has almost 20 employees who are working together to produce "sAurion: Legacy of the Kori-Odan". This is an action RPG game based on Ghana history of kingship.
